BUILD COMMUNITIES

Libraries are essential to communities, especially rural communities in Newfoundland and Labrador.

They provide access to a range of services that improve the lives of their residents.

In addition to their essential role in helping to provide access to knowledge, Libraries are often a central hub of community activity, being used by community groups as meeting places, and as education centres.

The loss of local libraries will be devastating to communities in Newfoundland and Labrador. Attempting to balance the Provincial budget on the backs of families, and others who are least able to afford it, is unacceptable.

The Provincial Government should be investing in the people and the future of this province.

Together we can restore the funding to Libraries and help build communities, not tear them down.
